

Kenya

Call them baboons and they have names for us.

A family, lost, nightfall, and how my friends shriek "Baboons!" chasing them into the abandoned house we then torch. You walk by now, the blackness and the smells, and remember the wild

dancing against the flames as something from a film.